If you have it formatted as Windows, it works for either Windows or Mac. If you have it formatted for Mac it works only for Mac.. The only thing is I don't think that a Mac can update an iPod's system software if it is formatted for windows- you'd have to do updates from work.. Then, use the iPod to play music through your PC's speakers. If you wish to plug the iPod into your PC in order to transfer music to your PC, then this is something that is typically used for music piracy and cannot be discussed on this forum (and is the exact reason Apple lets you copy music TO the iPod, but not FROM the iPod).. If it's to play music through your PC's speakers, then you simply need a 3.5' headphone plug-to-3.. You could reformat the iPod for Windows on your PC at work, bring it home and put all your music back on it from your Mac, then you can use it for both computers.
